From the Commodore

A Few Highlights from the First Three Months

As I write this column in late March we are three months into 2017 and it has been a busy time at your Club. Much of what happens here at California Yacht Club is captured in the Zephyr and the Breeze, but it is stunning to look back and review the past three months and see how much has happened.

Space constraints for this column will only allow me to provide you with a snapshot review of each area, but I think you will agree that the officers, committee chairs, and members of the Club have done an admirable job of moving these initiatives forward.

Club Events

We have had many wildly successful events over the past three months. Opening Day, under the capable leadership of Fleet Captain Stephanie Weston, was a magical affair. She even negotiated with the weather gods for sunny warmth in the morning, and then brought in the stage effect of whimsical fog just kissing the outer surroundings of our premises for that pleasantly cooling effect during the afternoon. What a fun day for all! Thank you, Stephanie!

We welcomed 20 new members into the Club 25 group, and celebrated six members who have been involved with this Club for 50 years. I thank each of you for your continued dedication to and support of California Yacht Club.

Competitive Sailing

We have held three large regattas. Thank you to Tawni Schutter and Chris Calingaert for chairing the SCYA Midwinter Regatta, where we had three classes participating: Michelle Ondrey and Rachel Davis for chairing the Harken Opti regatta with 66 Optimist sailors; and Sue Service for chairing the Laser Midwinters West, a three-day Laser regatta with 81 competitors visiting from three countries and 15 U.S. states.

Our members continue to carry the burgee far and wide in winning ways. Our two 2016 annual award winners, Don Macpherson on his Swan 90, Freya, and Drew Freides sailing his Melges 20, Pacific Yankee, continue their runs up the podium at various events and look to be repeating what worked last year with very impressive wins.

Our juniors continue to be active with either a regatta or practice just about every weekend. A special call-out goes to 14-year-old Grant Janov who filled in for his father at the recent San Diego NOOD regatta on the J/70 Minor Threat. When work commitments caused Jeff Janov to miss two of the three days for the regatta, Grant took over the helm. In a very competitive 19-boat fleet of J/70s, Grant and his 11-year-old brother Jordan held firm to the family's commitment of winning and brought home the first place trophy. Nice job!

Club Operations

I've heard from many members how much they are enjoying the improved food quality and service. Chef Christian has introduced a wide range of new items for lunch, dinner, and bar menus. Half-price wine nights (by the bottle) have proven to be extremely popular and with the start of our Wednesday Sunset Series half-price nights have moved to Thursdays. If you haven't been to the Club in a while for dinner or lunch, please put it on your calendar and join us soon.

We have a new California Yacht Club website. You will find the new site contemporary and functional. Online reservations are a breeze. You will find this method of making reservations very convenient. Try it out. Also, you can now request a letter of introduction be sent from the website to any of the 800 reciprocal clubs with which we have agreements. You can do this anywhere in the world as long as you have internet access. Check out both the domestic and international lists of clubs, which include both yacht clubs and athletic/city clubs.

Mary Stuart Deibel and Destinee King, in our membership department, have welcomed 25 new members to CYC in the first three months. They are all excited to be here. But it can be a little intimidating to show up to an event and not know many people. If you meet a newish member in the bar or around the Club, please tell them about the events you like to attend, and ask what interests them. Then encourage them to participate. ⚓

Freya Dominates Caribbean Superyachts

By BILL TAN

The month of March delivered back-to-back wins for CYC member Don Macpherson and his Nautor's Swan 90, Freya. Sailing the picturesque waters of the British Virgin Islands, Don and his team topped the leaderboard in two consecutive regattas, both hosted by the Yacht Club Costa Smeralda at their newly refurbished Virgin Gorda clubhouse and marina.

First up was the Rolex Swan Cup Caribbean, a biennial regatta which YCCS debuted in 1980 at their Porto Cervo, Italy, home and subsequently moved to the BVIs in 2013. This third New World edition of the regatta was held March 2-5 and featured random leg courses around Virgin Gorda, ranging in length from 14 to 30 nautical miles. The start/finish line was laid out north of Gorda Sound, between Mosquito and Prickly Pear Islands, with one race run for each of the four days of racing. Eighteen Swans were entered in the regatta and no fewer than six competed in the Maxi Division (more than 80 feet in length). Under clear blue skies and with a steady 17-28 knots of breeze, Freya dominated the field out of the blocks and took top honors in the first three races.

On the last day, however, Freya tangled with the Spanish team aboard their Swan 80, Plis-Play, at the start line. Don insists that their boats never got within a hundred feet of each other, but following an onslaught of Spanish epithets emanating from the other boat, Freya drew a penalty for executing what the referees deemed to be an overly aggressive maneuver at the start. Consequently, although Freya was again first to finish, the two-point penalty assessment produced a second place result behind Plis-Play. Nevertheless, Freya's overall points lead was unassailable and they took the regatta trophy by a comfortable margin. As well, Don took home a new wristwatch courtesy of title sponsor, Rolex.

Later that same week, and in those same waters, Freya had a second chance to prove their mettle among yet another brace of 18 maxis, this time in the seventh annual Loro Piana Caribbean Superyacht Regatta and Rendezvous held March 10-13. Racing the same roster of potential courses as the Rolex Swan Cup, Freya was entered alongside five other boats in the exciting pursuit format. Also known as an inverted start race, each boat's start time is determined by its performance rating, with the slowest boat starting first and the fastest starting last. Competitors are then scored very simply according to their finish order.

Don recalls that the breeze had lightened considerably between the two regattas, but was still blowing in the mid-teens for the Loro Piana. In spite of those milder conditions, Freya still managed to prevail, placing first in each of the three races and, once again, taking the regatta trophy.

Designed by noted naval architect Germán Frers, Freya was launched in the fall of 2012. But it wasn't immediately given over to a career on the superyacht racing circuit. Only sometime later, during an early and fateful Atlantic crossing, was it finally suggested that the boat could form the core of a highly competitive racing program. Don duly took up the challenge, changed gears, and has since entered Freya in 16 regattas, winning the last five in a row. He credits constant improvements to the boat, key additions to the sail inventory, and above all, his fantastic team, which includes America's Cup and Volvo Ocean Race veteran tactician Kimo Worthington, for the success of their campaign.

The next engagement on Freya's calendar is the mid-May race from Antigua to Bermuda where the boat will join the America's Cup festivities later that month. Then it's on to Newport, Rhode Island, for July's Candy Store Cup Superyacht Regatta. We wish Don and his crew continued success!

Mount Gay and North Sails Sponsor CRW 2017

By Co-chair CHRISTINA TARANTOLA

Excitement is building. People are talking. Two great sponsors are on board. June is right around the corner.

You guessed it. Cal Race Week is coming June 3 and 4. And it's going to be big!

"We look forward to Cal Race Week every year - undoubtedly a premier event on the racing calendar," said Dan McGanty, who is always among the top finishers on his Tartan 101, Mistral.

In 2016, we had 12 classes spread over two race courses. We had almost 450 racers crewing 78 boats. We expect even more this year.

We promise a great event with great prizes. Mount Gay Rum continues its long tradition of sponsorship, and this year we welcome North Sails as a new sponsor. Post-race festivities, including food and entertainment on Saturday and food and awards on Sunday, are open to all racers and volunteers.

In addition to awards for the top finishers in each class, we will also present the following perpetual awards:

- The Junior Crew Trophy to the best scoring boat in each class with at least one junior (<18) aboard
- The J/80 West Coast Championship Trophy
- The Martin 242 Pacific Coast Championship Trophy
- The Jimmy Morris Trophy to the first place Schock 35
- The Charles Tanner Trophy to the first place boat in each PHRF class
- The Fred F. Harris Trophy to the first place boat in each one-design class
- The Thomas K. Armstrong California Challenge Trophy to the winning yacht club team.

Get ready, get excited, get entered! Discounted entry fees are available to all who register and pay by May 14. Regular entry fees apply until May 31, when registration closes and one-design classes will be established.

To register, and for more event and award information, visit the Cal Race Week page at calyachtclub.com, or contact event Co-chairs Christina Tarantola at christinatarantola@hotmail.com or Nicole Harnett at ntharnett@gmail.com.

See you there! ⚓

Drew Freides' Pacific Yankee Is #1 in the World

By S/C BILL STUMP

©2016 Barracuda Communications/IM20CA

So you want to be #1? Drew Freides does, and is. CYC's winner of the 2014 and 2016 Hal Haenel Yachtsman of the Year award is continuing his winning ways in the international Melges 20 class. The Melges 20 is a small, feisty, three-person boat, competitively raced in more than two dozen countries worldwide. With a large sail plan, it's physically demanding and tactically challenging on the race course. On Drew's boat, Pacific Yankee, they have attained a top speed of 26 knots! Now that's fast, but it takes more than boatspeed to be top ranked in your class.

Drew finished last season ranked #1 in the world, having concluded a great year by finishing a close second in the 56-boat world championship, beating teams from 17 countries. Still driven to win that top prize, Drew blazed through the 2016/2017 Miami Winter Series, a three-regatta event over three months, with a first, second, and third, winning the series. Again, Drew is ranked #1 in the world, out of 113 teams qualified for world rankings.

But he and his team are still working to win that world championship, slated this year for October 2-7 in Newport, R.I. So, you won't see much of him or his boat around the Club as he spends spare weekends practicing and tuning in Newport. To get to the top, Drew has assembled an all-star team: Tactician Morgan Reeser, bow Charlie Smythe, and coach Vince Brun. Morgan is a two-time Olympian in the 470 class, winning a silver medal in the 1992 Games. Charlie competed in the 49er class for a spot in the 2012 Olympics. And, Vince has impressive credentials for any sailing coach – two-time Olympian for his native Brazil and multiple world championship titles in the Soling, Star, Melges 24, Etchells, and J/24 classes. This is a winning team!

As Drew and his Pacific Yankee team prepare to take on those Connecticut (and Rhode Island) Yankees and others from around the globe, let's wish him the best of luck. And, if you do see him around CYC, his last name is pronounced "Freed-us." ⚓

CYC Represented at NHYC Cabo Race

By PAULA CAMERON

CYC was well-represented during the 800 nm Newport Harbor to Cabo San Lucas Race, where only six of 22 boats finished the race that began March 11. Alan Field, S/C Bill Petersen, Will Petersen, Peter Stazicker, and Will Tetrick joined forces with Zephyrus owner Damon Guizot, vice commodore of the Los Angeles Yacht Club, and his LAYC crew. Highlights of the race included Will Petersen hitting 22.5 kts during his turn at the helm, S/C Bill Petersen catching a tuna so that the crew feasted on sashimi and seared ahi for lunch that day, and crossing the finish line at 4 a.m., the first monohull and only boat in their class to finish. Despite finishing in the middle of the night, the race organizers were ready for the LAYC/CYC team with free drinks and free food at the Baja Cantina.

For Brack Duker's Holua, it was a closely fought race with Grand Illusion, from the start in Newport Harbor to the finish four days later in Cabo. Holua crossed the finish line about an hour after GI, the class winner. The two Santa Cruz 70s were the only boats in their seven-boat class to complete the race. ⚓

Janov Family Wins J/70 Class at the San Diego NOOD

By DUNCAN CAMERON

Grant Janov at the helm of Minor Threat, winner of the J/70 class at the San Diego NOOD.

©Paul Todd/OUTSIDEIMAGES.COM

The Helly Hansen San Diego NOOD (National Offshore One-Design) Regatta took place March 17-19, hosted by San Diego Yacht Club. Winning the popular J/70 fleet was CYC's Jeff Janov and his team on Minor Threat. The Minor Threat program has always been a family affair. Jeff sails often with his three sons, and for this regatta sons Grant (14) and younger brother Jordan (11) were aboard, along with crew members Doug McLean, Erik Shampain, and Dave Ullman.

When Jeff was unexpectedly called away on business Friday morning, and again on Sunday, it was up to Grant to drive the boat. No problem, even though it was his first time ever driving a J/70.

"I couldn't really see anything, so I focused on where the boat was pointing and what we were doing speed-wise," said Grant. This is apparently a strategy worth emulating, because it produced six top-three finishes, including two bullets, in the races he helmed on Friday and Sunday.

Conditions in the racing area on San Diego Bay, southeast of Point Loma, were difficult, light to medium, and shifty at times. It was important to stay in the pressure and play the puffs. Nevertheless, Minor Threat managed to earn four bullets and eight top-four finishes in the 10 races sailed by the 19-boat J/70 fleet. Still, the regatta wasn't decided until the final leg of the final race. As Grant said, "Our tactician, Dave Ullman, did a great job of telling us where to go."

Minor Threat will be heading back to San Diego May 5-7 for the next J/70 high-point regatta, Yachting Cup. ⚓

Doug McLean sailed in the BVI Spring Regatta and Sailing Festival's Nanny Cay Cup, held on March 28. Friend Doug Baker (Long Beach Yacht Club) charters a boat in the Caribbean every year, and Doug McLean has joined him the past five, this year on the bow of the 72' turbo sled Runaway.

Runaway Wins Nanny Cay Cup with Doug McLean on Bow

“Anytime you get to sail in the Caribbean it is incredible.

*Eighty degrees outside,
80 degrees in the water,
and 12 to 15 knots of wind.
How could it be any better?”*

- Doug McLean

How could it get any better? Perhaps winning their class in the regatta would make it better, which Runaway did. The course took the 16-boat fleet from the channel off Nanny Cay, then around Pelican and Flanagan Islands.

Doug McLean continued by saying, “It’s an honor to sail with this team, and with Doug Baker, who allowed us this great opportunity.” ⚓

Stellar Conditions for 2017 Laser Midwinters West

By SUE SERVICE,
Regatta Chair

Competitors from Canada, Mexico, and both east and west coasts of the U.S. were on the water for this year's Laser Midwinters West, held at CYC on March 24-26. The boats raced in two classes determined by the sail plan: the Standard class (32 boats) employs the maximal sail area possible for the Laser (80 ft²) and is recommended for sailors weighing more than 132 pounds; and the Radial class (49 boats) employs a sail plan that is 18% smaller than the Standard rig, and is best for lighter sailors. While more than half of the total entrants were juniors, and most of those were in the Radial class, we did have several competitors in their 50s and 60s. The Laser has something for everyone.

Racers enjoyed three full days of sailing, and, under the direction of PRO S/C Tom O'Connor, completed a total of nine races in excellent conditions. On Friday, winds reached 12-15 knots; along with the waves and swell this made for fun surfing conditions. There were more than a few capsizes for some racers, but sailors were all smiles back at the docks! On the weekend, winds were a steady 8-10 knots. Both classes were competitive and aggressive, and the PRO used the Z flag in most starts (resulting in a penalty for boats that started the race too early), and even had to resort to the dreaded black flag for the last Radial start on Sunday (meaning that competitors who started too early were disqualified).

"Great conditions make for great racing!" said PRO O'Connor. "Santa Monica Bay served up some of its finest and the sailors responded with some very tight racing: a tie for third and fifth places with the third only one point out of second in the Standard class, and the tie for first place in the Radial class being decided by the winner of the last race. Hard to get more competitive than that!”

The Standard class was absolutely dominated by Paul Didham from Mission Bay Yacht Club, who finished with 10 points. First place in the Radial class went to Joseph Hou from Newport Harbor Yacht Club/Alamitos Bay Yacht Club with 14 points (full results are on the Regattas page of CYC’s website).

On shore, racers enjoyed CYC hospitality and on Saturday night listened to a presentation from Molly Vandemoer, a former Olympian who is currently heading up US Sailing’s Olympic Development Program. The Laser is an Olympic class boat, and Molly explained the ins and outs of being part of this program to a rapt audience of sailors and parents.

CYC members John Staff and Sanjai Kohli were in the Standard class. “The Laser Midwinters West was a really great regatta,” John commented. “Everything seemed to run exactly on schedule, the courses were perfect, and the wind was really solid, especially on the first day. Many thanks to Regatta Chair Sue, PRO Tom, and the many CYC members who made it possible for us to enjoy racing our Lasers!” Staff is right: upwards of 50 CYC members volunteered time and equipment to run this regatta. Special thanks to S/C Bill Petersen and John Hamilton who loaned their boats to the Race Committee.

Four CYC juniors competed in the Radial class: Ryan Janov, Gavin McJones, Patrick Mulcahy, and Bastien Rasse. Patrick loved these conditions: “We had uncharacteristically perfect racing weather, with a solid 10-14 knots, resulting in a great weekend of racing.”

Many thanks to the volunteers who helped with this regatta, and the CYC staff for their hard work. We’re already looking forward to hosting this event again in 2019! ⚓

Balloon Fishing Contest Winner

By EVAN DAVIS, Dockmaster

At the start of this year, the dock office launched the Balloon Fishing Challenge. In an effort to reduce the many Mickey Mouse faces and birthday wishes littering our local waters, the dock office at CYC continues to offer a monthly prize for the capture of these predators. Bounty for the member bringing in the most disabled balloons off our bay is a prime rib dinner for two at the Club. One prize will be awarded each month.

CYC member Shane Hutton was recently fishing off of Catalina Island for yellowtail when he snagged this lugger (that's Danish for a slow ship). Great catch, Shane! You and Denice will enjoy this month's prime rib dinner! 🍷

Mariners Education: First Aid at Sea

By JOHN VAUGHAN

Antoinette Donofrio (physician's assistant at Glendale Adventist Emergency Department), Sam Neubauer (L.A. County Fire Department), and Dan Shine (EMT, ER nurse, and chief medical officer on Paddywagon)

The CYC Power Fleet hosted the first Mariners Education session of the 2017 season on Saturday, April 1. What a start it was! This session on first aid at sea was well attended by seasoned CYC boaters, and the three dynamic speakers brought different experiences to the table. Our first speaker was Dan Shine, emergency medical technician, emergency room and cardiac nurse, with more than 20 years of experience in the medical field, including chief medical officer on Paddywagon during the Transpac race. Our second speaker was fireman and EMT, as well as boater, Sam Neubauer from L.A. County Fire Department Station 110. He was further supported by two of our Station 110 boat captains with years of experience responding to on-the-water situations. We rounded out our speakers with Antoinette Donofrio, a full-time physician's assistant with Glendale Adventist Emergency Department, who has wilderness medicine and rescue training certification.

All of our speakers started with an emphasis on the importance of boaters having CPR training. CPR courses are held at CYC and can also be found at the American Heart Association and American Red Cross. CPR training is important because when you are out on the water, particularly offshore, it can be several hours before medical help arrives. Further to that point, having some basic first aid training never hurts and could save a digit, limb, or even a life. The first thing every boat owner or skipper should do before going out on the water with others is survey the passengers and crew for swimming ability, medications being taken or potentially needed, as well as any allergies.

In the event of an emergency while under way, triage the situation by first taking care of scene safety; that is, get and keep the vessel and your passengers safe. This includes man overboard situations. Be calm and assess the situation. Additional topics discussed included: how to assess and handle lacerations, bites vs. stings, stroke assessment, cardiac signs, burns (rule of nines), seizures, sprains, dislocations, and bone breaks.

Our speakers suggested supplies to have on our boats, and that list expands if you are heading out for more than an overnight trip. This suggested list of supplies will be posted to the Power Fleet page of the CYC website. In addition, for small craft without radios and only a cell phone, the number to call in an emergency is NOT 911, as that can take too long with many transfers. You should note USCG dispatch is 310-521-3815, so put that in your cell phone now.

What a great way to start the 2017 season with valuable and pertinent information. As one attendee who is a CPR instructor and seasoned CYC member and boater said, "Great session! Very informative."

Watch Zephyr for information on our next Mariners Education Session, coming in May. The session will prove to be exciting and informative. ⚓

Summer is almost here and we are looking forward to some sunshine and warmer waters.

Walking the docks you can feel the anticipation and see our boaters prepping for the summer season.

In April, our Mariners Education showcased the very first Women on the Water event with Captain Ellen of Marine Max. Due to its popularity, we added another session on Sunday to include all the eager boaters on the waiting list.

We look forward to seeing you out enjoying the water and perhaps having a sip or a snack on your boat or in the bar. With warm nights approaching, we will be hosting some great dock parties and day cruises, so mark your calendar for the following events:

May 19-21 Marinafest Boat Show, Burton Chace Park

A community event for all water lovers with new boats to peruse, tall ships to tour, great food to taste, and much more.

Sunday, May 20 Day Cruise to Malibu and progressive lunch

All boats and watercraft welcome. Hosted by Scott Torrance.

Saturday, June 17 Summer Dock Party

Not to be missed. Chair Bridget Rohmer.

Monday, July 4 Firecracker Cruise

Bring your dinghies and paddle craft and raft up for the biggest floating party of the summer.

Wednesday, July 26 Annual Junior Blind Fishing Tournament

Hosted by Randy Sprout.

Sunday, August 13 Sip and Stretch Day Cruise

Hosted by Shane and Denice Hutton. A continuation of the ever-popular theme of yoga and mimosas. Choose yoga, mimosas, or both! ♣

CYC Burgee On the Move! From Tropical Cruises to Snowy Mountains

Fifty-one-year member Burt Hixson and cruising pal Paul Hendrick were just seen cruising Hong Kong Harbor, with a short stop at the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club. They were warmly welcomed as CYC representatives and toured the club's major expansion, a very impressive facility. Did you know that the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club is the only yacht club in the world with its own bowling alley? Four lanes and you're all invited!

Susan French and Tom Rowe recently returned from a fabulous 32-day cruise with Seabourn from Auckland, New Zealand, to Australia and Bali, Indonesia. Among the many highlights of the trip were a Zodiac cruise in Milford Sound, NZ, on a sparkling clear day and a beautiful day spent on the Great Barrier Reef in Australia. They are pictured with the CYC burgee at the top of Mt. Victoria and at the Royal Port Nicholson Yacht Club in Wellington, New Zealand.

Let us know where you and your CYC burgee have been. Pack your burgee on your travels and take a picture of it with you and your fellow CYC members.

Submit to the Breeze editor,

 Happy travels!

After spending last year cruising in the Caribbean, Kenny and Betsy Linn are heading to the Marquesas Islands from Isla Contradas, Panama, aboard their Beneteau 523, Alcyone.

In early April, Scott Meyer and his brother-in-law, Mike Samuelsen (holding the Pacific Mariners Yacht Club burgee), enjoyed three days of epic heli-skiing in the Northern Chugach and Talkeetna Mountains outside of Anchorage, Alaska.

Book Mates – Thursday, May 4 11:45 a.m. in the Fireside Room

Another blockbuster by one of the elite of non-fiction action writers, Erik Larson, "Dead Wake: The Last Crossing of the Lusitania" is a social history of a deadly attack on the famous luxury ocean liner in 1915. Sailing out of the port of New York for Liverpool, passengers and crew alike were mostly confident of their safety even though World War I was in its 10th month. They counted on the historic courtly rules of cruising during wartime, but the Germans tossed gentlemanly rules to the winds with a calculated chase by a U-20 submarine because the enemy was aware of explosive secret cargo on board. Ultra-secret British intelligence was tracking the sub but was compromised in its ability to protect the Lusitania and spoil any strategic advantage. Moderated by Norma Pratt. Co-chairs are Virginia and Ira Teller. Call the Club for reservation and lunch information.

Sunset Book Club – Thursday, May 18 6:30 p.m. in the Fireside Room

Stephanie Dray's "America's First Daughter" is a deft and compelling blending of history and fiction which brings to life Thomas Jefferson and his daughter Patsy. As a widower, Jefferson depended on young Patsy to be his right-hand girl in France, where he served as ambassador in Paris during the first thrilling days of their tumultuous revolution. His home served as a salon for democrats and anti-royalists. As his career progressed astronomically, Patsy's counsel and support sustained him while she struggled to accept her father's other "family," Sally Hemings and her half-siblings. A largely unknown history documented by Dray's meticulous research, this story is surprisingly contemporary. Moderator is Rob Hammesfahr. $10 inclusive for wine and cheese. Chair is Connie Webster.

Fiction and Fact an Explosive Combination in Thrilling "The Black Widow"

By VIRGINIA and IRA TELLER, Book Mates Co-chairs

Daniel Silva, best-selling author of more than a dozen previous novels about globe-trotting Israeli spy/art restorer/assassin Gabriel Allon, expanded his fan base at the April 6 Book Mates luncheon. Moderator Sue Moore, who characterized the novel as one of the most memorable books she had read in 2016, led the discussion.

Clearly, the author's background as a journalist until 1995 added to the authenticity of the thriller. The fact that Silva was brought up a Catholic, but converted to Judaism when he married his wife, was illuminating to fans of past works. It added weight to Gabriel's knowledge of old master painting restoration, which often places him at the Vatican before taking on a new assignment.

What impressed everyone was the timeliness of the work and Silva's descriptions of imagined ISIS terrorist attacks in major European cities that actually happened after the book was written. The novel brought into question the intelligence gathering abilities of Israel, France, England, and the U.S., a topic currently making headlines around the world. Even those familiar with the series and its resourceful, risk- and life-taking hero felt this was Silva's best book in quite some time. Readers of previous Silva spy thrillers pointed out that the hero always protected those he puts in harm's way, a startling contrast to the villain's disregard for human life.

Unlike some best-selling characters who never get older, Gabriel Allon is showing his age and is no longer capable of the James Bond feats of the past. New characters were introduced with a strong, seductive, very human, very determined woman, Natalie Mizrahi, at its center; it is her journey that keeps the reader in a constant state of suspense. The novel's nemesis, the ISIS mastermind Saladin, was deemed one of the most realistic and ruthless characters Gabriel has ever confronted. Despite its length at more than 500 pages, everyone found it a page-turner filled with surprises and an ending none of us saw coming. Sue informed us that a new addition to the series, "House of Spies," will be published in June. We certainly can't wait to read it!

Our May 4 non-fiction selection is "Dead Wake: The Last Passage of the Lusitania" by Erik Larson. Said the New York Times: "If creating 'an experience' is Larson's primary goal, then 'Dead Wake' succeeds. There are brisk cameos of Churchill and Woodrow Wilson, desperate flurries of wireless messages and telegrams, quick flashes to London and Berlin. These passages have a crackling, propulsive energy that most other books about the Lusitania — often written for disaster buffs or steampunk aficionados — sorely lack." Norma Pratt moderates.

The July fiction selection for Book Mates is "The Underground Railroad" by Colson Whitehead. We meet on the first Thursday of every month, 11:45 a.m. to 2 p.m., for lunch and a stimulating environment that continues to make Book Mates one of the Club's most popular activities. Pick up a copy of "Dead Wake" and join us on May 4. Luncheon $14.95++ Reservations strongly recommended. Call 310-823-4567. ♣

You may have noticed some changes to the bar recently. Over the last couple of weeks we have installed new refrigeration, storage, equipment (check out the built-in blender), and glassware in preparation for our new cocktail program. Behind the scenes, our bartenders have been going through an intensive training program reviewing classic cocktail recipes and learning new signature cocktails. Throughout the year, we will be able to offer signature cocktails featuring the season's best flavorings and cold-pressed juices. CYC's sommelier, Gus Marks, has also expanded our wine list to include a larger selection of rosés and added hard ciders that will pair well with Chef Christian's summer menu.

Mother's Day Brunch is a lovely occasion to celebrate the mothers and grandmothers in your life. "Sumptuous" is the word you want to describe the flavors of the salads, entrées, carving table, and pastries available on the buffet on May 14. Don't hesitate to call the front desk for reservations, as we want to set a place at the table for you!

Wine and spirits tastings have become enormously popular. It's fun to try something new and see what the chef has prepared to pair with each beverage. This month it's sake tasting on May 25. I am curious to find out what will be paired with both the warm and chilled sakes that evening. On our tasting evenings or our cocktail parties in the summer, we invite the prospective members from our new member meetings to join us. If you see someone with a name tag, please say hello and show them a warm CYC welcome.

Memorial Day weekend kicks off our service at the pool and from the snack bar. Chef Christian has a warm-weather menu that both adults and children will enjoy sitting by the pool or on the patio. As always, dining on your boat is always an option. Call the dining room and before you know it, Orleans will be heading out to your boat with your order. Our catering department can also cater appetizers or a buffet dinner on your boat, should you choose to entertain aboard your boat. Don't forget summer doesn't start until you celebrate Memorial Day at the Club with our barbeque on the patio. Evening colors will begin on Memorial Day and continue on Sundays at dusk throughout the summer.

Cal Race Week is on the calendar for June 3 and 4. Chaired by Christina Tarantola and Nicole Harnett, this regatta has been one of CYC's signature events for 18 years. Race Committee always needs volunteers for these large regattas as well as our weekly Sunset Series. Contact the regatta chairs if you would like to volunteer.

See you 'round the Club! ♣
